

Elyahou Lallouz

A Master of Philanthropy

LALLOUZ IS A CONTEMPORARY ARTIST WHOSE PERPETUAL SOURCE OF GRATIFICATION IS HIS PHILANTHROPY. Over the course of the past year, Lallouz has pledged over 100K to local charities via bestowal of his works, and helped to generate funds in the thousands of dollars.

Of Jewish ancestry, Elyahou Lallouz was born in Casablanca to a family of nobility. As the grandson of a French Ambassador Extraordinary, Lallouz is seemingly unpretentious of his privileged upbringing. The youngest of four children, the family set sail for North America in 1957 on the Queen Frederika. Educated at McGill University in Theater, Cinema and the Arts, Lallouz embarked on global travels after his studies, impacting many lives through his ambitious humanitarian endeavors. Married in 1986, Lallouz and his wife, Rhonda have four children.

Although Lallouz feels that hierarchy can be unfair, he acknowledges and emphatically empathizes with the innumerable causes which manifest our diurnal existence. With a distinctively mirthful charm, yet paradoxically modest demeanor, Lallouz's paintings constitute the proprietorship of quite a diverse and impressive roster; former President Bill Clinton, Miami Dolphin Ricky Williams, musical legend Isaac Hayes, were the names Lallouz permitted me to print. The rest of the list was considered privy and was to remain 'off the record.' Lallouz shared that he is currently working on CBS Late Show host, David Letterman as well as our Commander and Chief, President George W. Bush. His style is 'Signature Lallouz', pigments of brilliant hues are instrumental in the creation of this genius' cubist, expressionist and pop works of art. Lallouz is more than inspired by the many charities he supports; A Child is Missing, Andy Roddick Foundation, Aids Project, Breast Cancer Awareness, Homeless Coalition, Lupus Foundation, Mental Health Association and the list goes on. When the Lallouzes are not attending charity benefits, Elyahou's days are consumed by endless hours of benevolent painting. At times, his dedication runs well past a normal timetable and into the early morning hours. Lallouz states, "this is the essence of my being."

Lallouz is part of a talented group who are currently forming a coalition for projects including feature films, book publishings, Broadway bound theater productions and art exhibitions. All inquiries can be addressed to: www.GalleriaLallouz.com

"The Mistress & the Widow"

Elyahou Lallouz

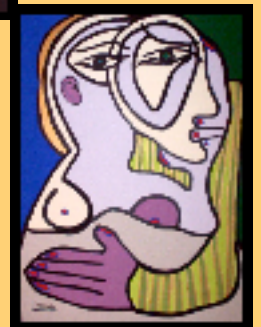

"Portrait of Noëlle Bush"

"Le Fumeur"

"The Candidate"

"The Noblewoman"

"To discriminate is to despoil one of their entitlement for security. It is the pusillanimous person who perniciously provokes like a pestilent disease.

It is through my artistic expression that I hope to emancipate all minds of prejudice."

-Elyahou Lallouz